

Transformer Cabinet Mural Project 2015
Artist: Teddi Parker
Location: Bryan and Oak, along irrigation canal

The inspiration for this design came from one of my little art students; I asked them what kinds of things one could do in City Park and she said feed the ducks. I thought that was too cute and immediately started sketching. I tried painting other activities you could do at City Park, but never got excited about any of them like I did with these ducks. When painting animals you can really give them personality in just their gestures. Geese have a lot of attitude I've discovered. Alas, I found time to paint most of the sides for the box, but didn't have time to paint-practice the top image I want to do, so I colored penciled it...the style will match the sides.
