

Transformer Cabinet Mural Project 2010
Artist: Francisco Esteban
Location: North Tenney Alley at LaPorte Ave.

Living in the Front Range area, we are privileged to have close access to multiple climate zones, which enable the arctic wildflower Moss Champion to exist. Moss Champion can be found in the tundra during warm seasons bunched together and smaller than most people's thumb.

The repetition of this flower-based design on triangles will be an experience of intuitive design. People passing by will be drawn to stop for a brief moment to see stars, hexagons, triangles, and of course hundreds of Moss Champion flowers bunched up within those shapes. It will be a visually active mural. It will be a privilege to participate in our Fort Collins community by creating this piece for public art.
