EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Arts Alive and the City of Fort Collins wanted to better understand public opinion regarding art, science, and cultural events or activities offered in the city. A Cultural Arts Public Opinion Survey was designed by local representatives of arts, science, and cultural agencies in the city, and the survey was conducted by telephone between December 1st and February 18, 2005. A total of 1800 telephone calls were made, with 333 surveys voluntarily completed by respondents. This response rate means the survey has a reliability of $\pm 5.5\%$.

Survey Findings

Demographics:

- Number of respondents: 333, majority female (65%)
- Average age range: 35 – 55 years old
- Education: Majority had a 4 year college degree (37%) with another 33% having some graduate work
- Household Income: Majority had income of $75,000 or higher (26%) with the second highest category being $25,001 - $50,000 (14%)
- Number of years in Fort Collins: 60% reported more than 10 years
- Residence: Most respondents (66%) lived in two primary zipcodes of Fort Collins: 80525 and 80526.

Among the most significant results of the analyses were:

Respondents are very satisfied/satisfied (82%) with the ways they can spend their leisure time in Fort Collins. Residents like all kinds of recreational and cultural activities, but they especially enjoy being outdoors and doing outdoor activities, doing sports activities, and attending arts, science, and cultural events (depending on the season). Attending cultural events is very popular in the late fall, winter, and early spring. During this season cultural events, performing arts, movies, museums, and libraries are the main attraction for leisure activities.

When asked what kinds of arts, science, and cultural activities were the most important to have in the community, respondents said festivals, fairs, and community events; programs for children, and performing arts presentations. And, Fort Collins residents strongly believe (95%) that having cultural arts programs are enjoyable, contribute to the education and development of children, and believe having these activities are important for the community even if they do not attend. Most respondents believed there were enough cultural activities offered (68%) in Fort Collins, and a large majority (87%) believe that the quality of what's being offered matched their expectations

By far most people learn of art, science, and cultural activities from local newspapers, particularly the Coloradoan. While many survey respondents believed they did hear about cultural activities in a timely fashion, there was a great deal of comments about the Coloradoan, and the Ticket section, being inaccurate or late. And respondents were very quick to suggest that current museum, library, and performing arts facilities could be updated, and additional cultural arts facilities could be built.

Respondents said they did go to nearby communities for cultural events – particularly Denver, Loveland, Greeley, Estes Park, and Boulder. They go for all kinds of events – performing arts, concerts, museums, and sports.

There is strong support for improving the physical facilities where cultural activities are held, particularly the Lincoln Center. This was mentioned repeatedly as needing updating, expansion, as well as building a new performing arts center altogether. Many respondents listed facility improvements to Fort Collins’s local museums (the Fort Collins museum and the Discovery Center) and the libraries (expand them, or build at new locations) as well. More sports complexes and community centers were mentioned.

Respondents strongly believe that visitors and participants should help pay for the cost of arts, science, and culture., followed by foundations, the city of Fort Collins, and local taxes from a scientific and cultural district should help pay. The least popular choice was government agencies.

STRUCTURE OF SURVEY QUESTIONNAIRE

The survey was designed in a collaborative effort between the consultant, the Arts Alive Executive Director, and members of the cultural arts committee of the City of Fort Collins. The survey consisted of several different types of questions asking how leisure time was spent, satisfaction with leisure activities, and attendance at arts, science, and cultural activities. Respondents were asked whether they agreed if art and cultural events in Fort Collins were important and worth supporting. They were asked about the quality and amount of cultural activities, and improvements to programs and facilities that could be made. The final section of the survey collected demographic information. There were a total of 32 questions on the survey.

SAMPLE POPULATION AND RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

The Arts Alive Survey was written as a telephone survey, to be administered to a random sample of households selected from the 2004 Fort Collins telephone book. Telephone interviewers were instructed to select names from different columns (4, 2, 3, and then 1) and then from various sections of the columns (middle, upper, lower) and to call a name and number in that area. Copies of the telephone surveys were sent to several Arts Alive volunteers for them to phone and complete, and a total of 115 were collected from them between December 1, 2004 and December 20, 2005. Starting in January, paid telephone interviewers collected an additional 218 surveys between January 5, 2005 and February 17, 2005, resulting in a total respondent population of 333.

The results of the Arts Alive survey achieve 95% reliability with a margin of error rate of $\pm 5.5\%$. This means that the conclusions of this survey analysis can be generalized to the population of Fort Collins as a whole. While some surveys contained missing data it should be noted that this is common, and has been taken into consideration in the summary analysis.

Survey data was entered into an SPSS spreadsheet by Sonja Rizzoli, a graduate assistant for the project. Data for the 333 surveys were analyzed using the Statistical Package for the Social Sciences (SPSS) version 12.0.

SURVEY RESULTS

Survey results are reported below and are organized by individual question. The responses are displayed in a data table with a brief summary of key information learned from the results preceding the table for each question.

Part One: General questions about leisure time and arts, science, and cultural activities:

Q2: How do you spend your leisure time in Fort Collins? List the top three recreation/leisure activities you engage in (such as sports and athletics, reading, going to concerts, socializing with friends, watching performing arts, going to art or science museums, etc.) - In Summer, Fall, Winter, and in Spring

The first question asked respondents to think about how they spent their leisure time, and specifically asked what they did in each of the four seasons. In the summary charts below, the most frequently listed activities are shown. This question elicits competing leisure time activities to arts, science, and cultural activities.

While sports activities are in the top two for all seasons, so is the events/musicals/concerts/opera category. And the seasonal popularity makes sense: sports activities are top in spring and summer, and performing arts events are top in fall and winter. This respondent group is very active in outdoor recreation activities, and they are big readers as well. Movies and dining out become very popular in the fall and winter, and camping outside/being outside is popular in the spring and summer. Museums/library/art/festivals tend to remain a low but constant 6-7%.

Table 1: How do you spend your leisure time?

Top Spring Activities	Number of Respondents	Percent

Q3: How satisfied are you with the ways you can spend your leisure time here in Fort Collins?(Very satisfied to Very dissatisfied)

Fort Collins residents are Satisfied, or Very Satisfied with the ways they can spend their leisure time (82%) – a very high and positive response. Another 13% are Somewhat Satisfied, and less than 6% are Somewhat or Very Dissatisfied. This means that respondents do find lots of activities available to them in their spare time, there is almost no dissatisfaction with ways to spend leisure time.

Table 5: Satisfaction with how leisure time is spent in Fort Collins

Answers	Respondents	Percent	Other
1. Very Satisfied	157	47%	Mean = 1.75*
2. Satisfied	118	35%	Median = 2.0*
3. Somewhat Satisfied	42	13%	Mode = 1*
4. Somewhat Dissatisfied	13	4%
5. Very Dissatisfied	2	<1%

*Note: The mean is the average of all responses to the questions. The median is the middle number if you listed all the responses in numerical order. The mode is the number most frequently reported by respondents.

Q4: How do you feel about the amount of arts, science, and cultural activities that are available for your children?(Very satisfied to Very dissatisfied)

About 62% of respondents had opinions about cultural activities for children, and 40% were Satisfied or Very Satisfied, 12% were Somewhat satisfied, while 10% were Somewhat or Very Dissatisfied. Having dissatisfaction levels at 10% or below is very good, although there does appear to be some room for improvement with Somewhat Satisfied at 12%.

Q6: How often do you attend the following each year?

The chart below reflects what respondents answered when asked about attending specific cultural events in Fort Collins. In general, 16% to 40% did not go to the events listed during the year (0 times a year) – with a low of 16% not attending a special event/festival, and a high of 40% not attending museum.

For all questions most respondents said they attended one to two times a year, and the second-highest attendance category was 3-4 times a year, except for one category – sporting events.

Sporting events in Fort Collins were reported to be the most often attended of any of the 8 events listed. In fact while about a third of the respondents said they did not go to a sporting event in Fort Collins during the year, the next two highest categories were one to two times a year (21%), and then ‘More than 10 times a year’ (19%). Attending sporting events in Fort Collins is probably the main competition with arts, science, and cultural activities. The median number for ‘sporting event’ is 3, indicating ‘5 to 6 times a year’, and the mean is close by at 2.85.

Table 8: How often do you attend the following each year?

How often do you attend the following each year?	0 times a year	1-2 times a year	3-4 times a year	5-6 times a year	7-10 times a year	More than 10 times a year

Q6a: How often do you attend the following each year - Other?

This open-ended question asked respondents to elaborate further on how often they attended ‘other’ events than those listed above in Fort Collins each year. Most respondents (93%) did not list any other events. Of those that did, they said they go to the library, to clubs, the farmer’s market, for coffee downtown, to CSU events, and to music events. (Full comments appear in the Appendix).

Q7: How important to you are the arts, science and cultural opportunities offered in Fort Collins?. (Very important to Not important).

Respondents believe the arts, science, and cultural opportunities in Fort Collins are Very Important (56%) or Important (28%) to them personally – a total of 84%. Fourteen percent of respondents said cultural opportunities were Somewhat Important (being below 15% is good), and a very small 2% said they were Not very important, with no one saying they were not important at all.

Note: Total number of respondents = 325

Q8a: What other kinds of arts, science, and cultural activities seem to be the most important to have in the community?

Respondents mentioned sports and non-school athletics, parks, after school care, a science museum, cinema and travelogues, and community radio. (Full comments to this question are listed in the Appendix).

Q9-14: How do you feel about the following statements: (Strongly Agree to Strongly Disagree).

Respondents agreed or strongly agreed to all but one of the statements listed below – at a rate of 95% or better. There is no question that Fort Collins residents are very supportive of the general value of cultural arts.

The one question that asked if “We need to improve the quality of art and cultural activities in Fort Collins” had a 63% agree/strongly agree response rate, and a 20% disagree/strongly disagree response rate. This is above the 50% mark, so attention should be paid to this response rate, which is echoed in the comments section at the end of the survey.

Q15: How do you obtain your information about cultural/leisure time activities?:

There were some 479 sources listed by respondents for obtaining their cultural/leisure time activity information. Respondents by far obtain their information from newspapers – usually the daily Coloradoan, frequently the Friday Ticket section of the Coloradoan, and also frequently from the two alternative papers in town: the Bullhorn and the Scene. Younger respondents to the survey who are college students also get their information about activities from the CSU Collegian. The Rocky Mountain News and the Denver Post were also mentioned as newspaper information sources.

The second most popular method of obtaining information was from the radio – primarily national public radio through KUNC, with several other stations specifically listed.

The third most popular way that respondents obtain their information about cultural activities was through word of mouth, followed by the Internet/Web. Flyers and friends rounded out the categories of having 30 or more respondents mention them. (Full comments are listed in the Appendix).

Q16: Is your information timely enough to take advantage of these activities?

A majority of respondents did believe the information they received was timely enough to take advantage of cultural/leisure activities – a strong 82%. But the 18% of respondents who said no were very vocal in the following question, and there is significant room for improvement on getting out cultural arts information in a timely fashion.

Table 12: Is your information timely enough to take advantage of these activities?

Answers	Respondents	Percent
Yes	263	82%
No	57	18%
Total	320	100%

Q17: Why or why not?

Respondents were very willing to say why they could, or more often could not take advantage of activities offered. In particular, there was dissatisfaction with the local newspaper, the Coloradoan, and the timeliness of its offerings. While 41% of respondents said the information is timely/OK, 59% of respondents said information was only mostly timely, or too late, or poorly covered, or inaccurate. Based on the results of this question, respondents clearly say that the Fort Collins Coloradoan could improve in this area.

Table 13: Classification of responses to Timely Information question

Information is Timely, Why = OK, Fine	Mostly timely, sometimes too late	Too late/ Information not timely	Poor coverage in paper, or Inaccurate
41	15	28	14

Total Comments Made = 98

Examples of Why Comments:

Read paper (6)
Timely enough to plan for family
Covered timely enough fashion
Web sight listing, Web is updated
Flyers posted in time around town

Examples of ‘Sometimes in a timely fashion’ Comments:

Not always
Once in a while, too little notice
Ticket is sometimes behind

Examples of Why Not Comments:

Too late (9)
Newspaper is not timely enough (3)
Needs more advance notice in Coloradoan/ticket (3)
Newspaper/Coloradoan could do better (2)
Can't depend on Coloradoan/ is no good (3)

Note: Full Comments are in Appendix

Q18: Do you go to cultural events in nearby communities?

A strong majority of respondents said Yes, they go to cultural events in nearby communities – 74%. One quarter of respondents (26%) said no, they do not go to cultural events in cities nearby.

Table 14: Do you go to cultural events in nearby communities?

Answers	Respondents	Percent
Yes	244	74%
No	87	26%

No	31	13 %
Total	246	100%

Q22: If no, why not?

This open-ended question asked for further elaboration on the quality of cultural activities offered, and 114 respondents gave their feedback, mostly in the form of suggestions with some specific complaints. Topics most frequently commented upon were more/bigger attractions, and more diversity of attractions with more well-known artists. In fact there were very few comments about the lack of quality of the activities, but more comments about what respondents would like to see. (Note: Full Comments are listed in the Appendix).

Summary of Comments:

Q23: Are there improvements to current arts, science, and cultural activities you would like to see made?

This open-ended question asked followed up the previous question by asking what improvements could be made to current arts, science, and cultural activities the respondents would like to offered, and respondents gave 247 comments or suggestions - less than half said there didn't need to be improvements, what Fort Collins has is OK. About 54% of the comments were that yes, there could be improvements. Most suggestions were for more – more opportunities, bigger events, more theater, bigger museums, more famous people, more advertising, more affordability, better parking. (Note: Full Comments are listed in the Appendix).

Summary of Comments:

No improvements (108)

Q25: Are there improvements to current art, science, and cultural facilities you would like to see made?

In counting up the Yeses and the Nos, the tally was almost split 50/50. But when it came to Yes suggestions on improvements to facilities, by far the majority of comments had to do with the Lincoln Center. Suggestions were to upgrade it, update it, expand it, or move on and build a new performing arts center. Following closely were suggestions to improve Lincoln Center parking – the lighting, the amount, please make it better. Museums and libraries were also mentioned as needing improved spaces, or more of them. And there were several suggestions to upgrade parks, CSU facilities, and do something with the empty Steele’s building. (Note: Full Comments are listed in the Appendix).

Summary of Comments:

No (104)

Nothing Specific (11)

Yes (126)

Need New or Improved libraries (6)
 More outdoor venues (2)

Q26: Are there additional art, science, and cultural facilities you would like to see built?

In answer to this question, there were more than twice as many Yeses as Nos. When it came to Yes suggestions on building new facilities, a larger performing arts center/more theater venues was mentioned the most often. This was followed by new museums and libraries, and an outdoor amphitheater/outdoor concert venue. (Note: Full Comments are listed in the Appendix).

Summary of Comments:

Q27: Who do you believe should help pay for the cost of arts, science, and culture? (Check all that apply).

Because respondents were encouraged to check ‘all that apply’ of the seven categories in the ‘who should pay’ question, every time a respondent checked the category the total count for that category was increased by one. Therefore, each “funder” is listed with ‘yes’ votes, below. Unlike the member survey where respondents believed that foundations should help pay for the cost of a northern Colorado Science Center (87%) followed closely by the visitors to the museum itself (85%); the general public believed the opposite - visitors should help pay (67%) and then foundations (53%) , and then the city where the science center is located (49%). Again (like the member survey) the school district category was the lowest vote-getter at 28%.

Table 17: Who should help pay for arts, science, and culture?

Who should help pay for the cost of arts, science, and culture?	Checked Off Yes	Did not Check

Demographic Questions

Q28: Gender:

More women (65%) than men (35%) answered the survey, which is slightly higher than the usual gender split in most telephone surveys. (Normally the average range is about 56-62% women, 38-44% men).

Table 18: What is your gender?

Gender	# Responses	Percent
Male	114	35 %
Female	216	65 %

Q29: Age:

The largest number of respondents fell into in the 46-55 year category (25%), followed by those aged 36-45 (23%) and 26-35 (17%). This is predictable in a city with the demographics of Fort Collins, excluding the large number of college students, who were a small portion of this survey population. This distribution is also representative of who usually takes the time to answer telephone surveys.

Table 19: Age of Respondent

Age	# Responses	Percent
18 – 25 years	33	10 %
26 – 35 years	57	17 %
36 – 45 years	75	23 %
46 – 55 years	83	25 %
56 – 65 years	45	14 %
66 + years	37	11 %

Q30: Education:

The level of education for the survey population is higher than that of the city of Fort Collins, which lists 48% of its residents with a bachelor's degree or higher. This is a very highly educated survey population, with 70% of all respondents having a 4 year degree or higher.

Table 20: Level of Education

Education	# Responses	Percent
High school	29	9 %

Some College	69	21 %
4 Year Degree	119	37 %
Graduate Work	105	33 %

Q31: Household Income:

Respondents to this survey are about evenly distributed among income categories (except for the lowest), with 39% preferring not to answer the question. The most number of respondents listed their income category as $75,001 or higher, which is also representative of those who tend to answer telephone surveys.

Table 21: Household Income Categories

Household Income	# Responses	Percent
$0 - $25,000	29	9 %
$25,001 - $50,000	45	14 %
$50,001 - $75,000	44	13 %
$75,001 +	85	26 %
Missing	130	39 %

Q1: How long have you lived in Fort Collins?:

Sixty percent of respondents answered that they have lived in Fort Collins for more than ten years, which is probably a higher than average amount. Therefore, results should be examined keeping in mind that long-time residents are disproportionately represented.

Table 22: Household Income Categories

Years in Fort Collins	# Responses	Percent
Less than one year	15	5 %
Two to four years	47	14 %
Five to ten years	70	21 %
More than 10 years	199	60 %

Q32: Zipcode:

Respondents to this survey are distributed among Fort Collins' zipcodes, with a few living in some neighboring towns.

CONCLUSION

Arts Alive and the City of Fort Collins wanted to better understand public opinion regarding cultural events or activities offered throughout the city and in nearby communities. After conducting a thorough and valid telephone survey, results showed that Fort Collins residents value art, science, and culture as part of their quality of life leisure activities. Respondents were very satisfied with the ways they could spend their leisure time in Fort Collins. Depending on the season, attending cultural events was rivaled by mainly by sports, for how respondents spent their leisure time. And in the Fall and winter, cultural events, museums, and libraries were the main attraction for leisure activities.

Generally speaking, respondents were satisfied with amount, and quality, of arts, science, and cultural activities that were available for their children. When asked to comment on additional or improved cultural activities, respondents said there could always be more art, science, and history programs for their kids, but they were satisfied.

When asked what kinds of arts, science, and cultural activities were the most important to have in the community, respondents said festivals, fairs, and community events; programs for children, and performing arts presentations. When given a list of value statements regarding the value and importance of arts, science, and cultural activities, 95% of respondents agreed or strongly agreed. The only disagreement came when asked if “we need to improve the quality of art and cultural activities in FC” – and that question had 65% of respondents agreeing, and 35% disagreeing.

By far most people learn of art, science, and cultural activities from various local newspapers, particularly the Coloradoan. While many survey respondents believed they did hear about cultural activities in a timely fashion, there was a great deal of comments about the Coloradoan, and the Ticket section, being inaccurate or late. And respondents were very quick to suggest that current museum, library, and performing arts facilities could be updated, and additional cultural arts facilities could be built.

Key Findings and Management Implications:

- Fort Collins residents like to spend time outdoors recreating (hiking, camping, playing golf, sports, cooking outside), they like to attend sporting events, and they like to attend arts, science, and cultural events. The cultural arts competes with outdoor recreation and sports in the late spring, summer, and fall – but takes over as the primary leisure activity in the late fall, winter, and early spring.
- Most people go to sporting events and concerts several times a year. And respondents attend on average two to three art, science, or cultural activities a year. Sports events are more frequently attended than cultural events.

- Information about what cultural activities are available is primarily learned from local newspapers, then radio, word of mouth, the Internet, flyers, and friends. The Coloradoan received several complaints about timeliness and accuracy in its advertising/reporting of cultural events and opportunities.
- Additional arts, science, and cultural activities that were mentioned several times were more art, theater, outdoor concerts and film – film in parks, or outside was mentioned.
- There is stronger support for improving the physical facilities where cultural activities are held, than for improving the programs offered, although there is support for both. Many respondents support facility improvements to Fort Collin’s local museums (the Fort Collins museum and the Discovery Center), the libraries (expand them, or build at new locations), and the Lincoln Center (both increased size of facility, and parking).
- Respondents strongly believe first and foremost that visitors and participants should help pay for the cost of arts, science, and culture. After that they think that foundations, the city of Fort Collins, and local taxes from a scientific and cultural district should help pay. The least popular choice was government agencies.

Information is Timely, Why = OK, Fine	Mostly timely, sometimes too late	Too late/ Information not timely	Poor coverage in paper, or Inaccurate in paper
41	15	28	14

Total Comments Made = 98

Examples of Why/Why Not Comments:

Why:

Read paper (3)
 Work at newspaper
 Enough published
 Read it in the newspaper every day (3)
 Timely enough to plan for family
 Covered timely enough fashion
 Web sight listing, Web is updated
 Flyers posted in time around town
 Can reserve by phone
 Mailing lists
 Easily accessible

Check monthly
Because I work at Lincoln center (2)
Advertise local channels/comcast
Enough notice & Lincoln Center notice
Notified by organizations
I make it to all the events I want
Sometimes it's too far in advance
Seek out info
We normally know things
Always hear on time, if you hear
Friends and internet, others lacking
Usually a week out so can plan
Usually posted 2-3 weeks before
Marketed well
For the things we go to-good

'Sometimes in a timely fashion' Comments:

Not always
Need more advertising
Would like more information
Once in a while, too little notice
Coloradoan should do more, poor coverage
Not all the time
Ticket is sometimes behind
Mostly, Ticket only for that week
Sometimes
Usually enough time
Most of the time

Why Not Comments:

Too late (9)
Dates and times inaccurate in Coloradoan
Coloradoan after event, Paper is often behind
Don't read paper always, radio late
Ticket section in Coloradoan is poor
Newspaper is not timely enough (3)
Needs more advance notice in Coloradoan/ticket (3)
Newspaper/Coloradoan could do better (2)
Can't depend on Coloradoan/ is no good (3)
Schedules are too full
The newspaper is not too helpful
Coloradoan does not cover things well
Coloradoan is too slow
Post-event reporting
Too busy
Heard after it was sold out

Don't notice it in time
Just don't get it out to the people
Some notices are in the paper
Coloradoan could do better job
Sometimes late
Info is probably out there
Too many 'day of' reports' (Coloradoan)
Dissatisfied with newspaper, Coloradoan
Not well informed about CSU events
Coloradoan reports after fact (2)
Coloradoan doesn't calendar things well
Coloradoan needs improvement
Community websites would be good
Don't know Lincoln Center in advance
Things are only 2 days away

22. Do you believe the quality of the cultural activities being offered in Fort Collins matches your expectations? If no, why not?

If No, Why Not Comments (108) (See below)

No opinion/Nothing specific (2)

Yes, Quality OK (4)

Total Comments Made = 114

Could offer more/bigger attractions/more multi-cultural (38)

Not enough variety/diversity/outside artists (18)

We have a good amount for our size (6)

Go to Denver for bigger venues/shows/opportunities (6)

Better quality (5)

Not enough for children (4)

More conservative offerings (3)

Better facilities (3)

Not enough money/not enough support (2)

Too expensive (1)

Actual Comments:

Need better known celebrities, famous people

Expectations for Fort Collins are limited due to Denver's much larger venues

More theatrical productions, no professional community

Season tickets donated money not with sponsor approval

Not enough opportunity to bring outside artists

Fair presentation/support

Wish I knew

No quantity or variety, lots of stuff like a big city

I find some few events to be boring

More lectures, informative talks

Nice to have package deals in Denver

There is always room for improvement, a variety in the activities

Uneven quality because of budget and talent pool

Not enough variety, much of it geared towards popular

Like bigger cities with more bigger shows with diversity

Local events similar to other facilities

Limited/very hard to find information

A lot but disorganized

We don't have the facilities

Always, could offer more

Not enough money, not enough support

Need more for the size of our city

Not enough to just go to-need to plan

More activities for children

Always room for improvement

Not enough for kids, too expensive

Better quality and variety of entertainers
Fort Collins needs a larger theater for recently touring large shows
A greater variety should be present
Bigger name performers & shows
Loveland is smaller and has nearly as much
There is never enough
Haven't really seen enough to judge
Little more open to the public
We still have to go elsewhere
Shows tend to be too vulgar on occasion
You can't have enough
Always could be more
Just not enough opportunities
There is never enough to do
Can never have enough, more art/science
Too close minded, conservative in their offerings
Could be lots more
Quantity yes-quality no
Not enough variety
Not as many great concerts as there used to be
Not all the time, F.C. gets the B team in traveling shows
Could use more variety
Could really ever have enough?
Not enough concerts
Would like bigger shows without going to Denver
Could be more multi-cultural events
Need more variety
There is never enough
Not enough variety
We always need more
Don't get out enough to warrant an opinion
Could use more cultural events
Could always be more
Somewhat disappointed in symphony
Level like in big cities
Good for this size town
Everything here sucks
Moved from NY area and they are more professional there
For this size town, yes
It is a small town
I just go to Denver for more activities
Fort Collins could stand to improve it's quality of arts
Small town, good for the size
I usually go to local events
We moved from the west coast, there are a lot more activities to choose from
Good for this size town

It doesn't seem very sophisticated
No thought or heart goes into cultural activities
Not realizing the potential demand
Need more kids activities
CSU does little for community, would expect more cultural offerings
We could have more artists and concerts
Need more cultural
Acts have gotten worse over the years
Bad quality
One-dimensional, conservative offerings
Not out enough to have opinion
Go to Denver for so many things
Not enough in the winter
Ft. Collins is too white-conservative in their offerings
Could be more for pre-teens
Lacks diversity
Don't participate enough to know
Needs more diversity in FC

Yes, museums, etc
Same as above-eventually new facilities
Really nice center would be nice
New sports area
Lincoln Center needs improvement
A new Discovery Center/science museum
Good science facility
Model plane flying park
More art galleries
A larger permanent farmer's market venue
New facilities for all the arts
A larger museum
Nothing
A better/ bigger science museum
More variety of restaurants
Upgrade the Aggie, Lincoln Center, Discovery Center.
Minor league ball park
