Our Beliefs

Mission

The Natural Areas Department's mission is to conserve and enhance lands with natural resource, agricultural and scenic values, while providing meaningful education and appropriate recreation opportunities.

History of the Natural Areas Department

The residents of Fort Collins have created a legacy of natural resource conservation. In 1992, Fort Collins community members overwhelmingly decided to tax themselves to establish the Natural Areas Program (changed to "Department" in 2012). The funds made possible land conservation, public amenities like trails and parking lots, educational opportunities and other related projects. Additional sales taxes to fund natural areas were initiated and passed by voters in 1995, 1997, 1999 and 2002. These extend the revenues from the County Help Preserve Open Space sales tax to 2018 and the revenues from the City sales tax to 2030. The Fort Collins community makes natural areas possible--thank you!

Our Volunteer Philosophy

By becoming a volunteer with us, you are joining a long history of community commitment to conservation. Since its inception, the Natural Areas Department has engaged volunteers on every level, from education to stewardship to leadership. Volunteers help extend outreach and strengthen community involvement. We believe that volunteers are one of our most valuable resources.

Our Continuing Education Guidelines

The City of Fort Collins Natural Areas Department understands the value of continuous education for our volunteers and is committed to offering high quality programs at least once a month. We hope you can take advantage of some of the wonderful classes offered.

Master Naturalists and Master Naturalist Assistants are required to attend at least two qualified continuing education programs, field trips, or workshops each year. Qualified continuing education opportunities are usually sponsored or organized by the Natural Areas Department. We send you notices and information about these via email. You are welcome and encouraged to take classes offered by other City of Fort Collins programs, including the FC Volunteer Program, but they do not count towards your continuing education requirements. While there are a great variety and quantity of worthwhile and interesting programs and workshops in Fort Collins, we cannot endorse them or count your attendance at these as continuing education with us.

Likewise, we cannot promote other organizations' workshops, events, or learning opportunities (with a few exceptions), and rarely do we send these on to you. We also are protective of your commitment to us and we value your choice to volunteer with the Natural Areas Department. Our policy is to not give your information to other organizations, nor can we vouch for others' values and missions, so we do not pass on their events to you.

Safety

Clothing and Personal Protective Equipment

Natural Areas-specific PPE may include hat, lots of water, sunscreen, closed-toed shoes, gloves, first aid kit (required), safety vest, sunglasses, snake gaiters, winter walkers, and more. Natural Areas will provide most of the PPE for you, so please check with staff if you need anything.

You may also bring PPE for program participants including sunscreen, insect repellent, and hand sanitizer, available for checkout at Nix. Do not give out first aid supplies beyond your level of training.

Emergency Response

Emergency response in natural areas relies on communication. Bring your cell phone. If you are at a regional site, you must take the Field Safety course which teaches you radio procedures and locations of call boxes.

Risks

Take special care to avoid and prepare for risks in natural areas including people, weather, water, wildlife, insects, and plants.

Safety Message

The Natural Areas Department Safety Team has crafted the following message for the public: The activities and events offered by the Natural Areas Department often take place in natural areas where you are responsible for your own safety. Outdoor activities include the potential for serious injury, death and property loss. Please choose activities that match your abilities and be prepared for site and weather conditions.

Staff and volunteers leading programs should be delivering some variation of this message to the public prior to heading out for a program. Wording can be changed to be more personal or to fit the group. If you are a group leader, you must point out potential hazards to your participants at the beginning of your outing.

Safety Resources

For a complete and up-to-date list of safety resources please visit:

Training

Natural Areas staff offers Field Safety and First Aid/CPR classes for volunteers, in addition to other safety programs. Staff will keep you notified of training and continuing education opportunities through volunteer email communication. All volunteers leading programs at regional sites must take the Field Safety course.

Responsibilities

You are an ambassador

Prior to any action or statement which might affect or obligate the city of Fort Collins, volunteers should consult with and get approval from appropriate staff. These actions may include public statements to the press, coalition or lobbying efforts with other organizations, or any agreements involving contractual or other financial obligations. Volunteers are authorized to act as representatives of the Natural Areas Department only as specifically indicated within their job descriptions and to the extent of such written specifications. Remember, you are an ambassador for the Natural Areas Department and are expected to represent the Natural Areas Department positively. All volunteers are expected to effectively communicate the City's goals, management philosophy and key messages.

You maintain confidentiality

Volunteers are responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of all proprietary or privileged information to which they are exposed while serving as a volunteer. Failure to maintain confidentiality may result in termination of the volunteer's relationship with the Natural Areas Department or other corrective action.

Your dress is appropriate

As representatives of the Natural Areas Department you are responsible for presenting a good image to visitors and to the community. Volunteers shall dress appropriately for the conditions and performance of their duties. The Natural Areas Department will provide you with appropriate uniforms as outlined in their volunteer description. Uniforms should not be altered in any way. Please return or destroy your uniform if you decide to discontinue your volunteer service.

You help us keep accurate records

Individual volunteers are responsible for the accurate completion and timely submission of timesheets to the Volunteer Coordinator whether electronically or in paper form. Stay up to date on volunteer email communication and respond to requests about background checks and records.

You follow the rules
