

Tree Density and Vulnerable Areas

Based on Income and Ethnicity

The highest Kernel Density Estimates of untreatable Ash and other street trees in dead / poor condition are displayed in dark red, with the lower estimates appearing in light pink.

Census block groups that are at least 25% Hispanic with a median household income of less than $40,000 are highlighted in blue. The average percentage of residential tree cover is overlaid on each block group in green.