

William B. Robb

"Throughout the ages, it has been the simple buildings that solve a problem (that) become the representative buildings of their time." Sixty-two years ago, one man's vision and passion for architecture and desire to improve the built environment within the community of Fort Collins, resulted in founding an architectural practice then known as William B. Robb, Architect. It was among the first architectural businesses in the community, and his successors carry on a proud legacy today.

William Brenner

"It's rewarding to walk around town and see all the projects that the firm has done." Brenner started work with the firm in the late 50s. In 1971 he became principal, and the firm became Robb & Brenner Architects and Planners.

George Brelig

"I have always been a day dreamer; I hope I never stop." Brelig joined the firm in 1979 becoming a principal in 1986 when the firm changed its name to Robb, Brenner & Brelig Architects and Planners. George has led the design of many of the firm's sustainable educational projects.

The City of Fort Collins celebrates great places and people who create them. Join us in promoting awareness of the importance of urban design, and its role in maintaining and enhancing the quality of life in our community.
