

2012 Residential Environmental Program Series.

Resilient Communities.

Tuesday, Feb. 1, 7–9 p.m.
Senior Center, 1200 Raintree Dr.
(Preregistration is not necessary for this free program.)

Join us for a screening of Carbon Nation, a documentary about innovative global solutions to energy, food and transportation issues. Carbon Nation is entertaining, informative and provides a realistic perspective regarding the importance of being part of the new, low-carbon economy.

Following the film, local experts will discuss:

- opportunities to create a resilient community through the FortZED residential energy project
- new and free home assessments through Healthy Sustainable Homes
- neighborhood grants and rebate programs (e.g., appliances, toilets, recycling services)
- resources for growing and buying healthier food

Presenters:

Social Sustainability: Dr. Rosemarie Russo, City of Fort Collins sustainability coordinator, will help citizens learn how to partner with local resources, such as community gardens and ranches, to sustain a healthier community. Dr. Russo will provide information on the new self-guided bike tour of innovative projects throughout Fort Collins, including the outdoor kitchen at the Gardens on Spring Creek, an evacuated solar tube project at EPIC and electric vehicle charging stations at City Hall.

FortZED: Arianna Friedlander will provide an overview of the FortZED Community Energy Challenge, including resources for conservation and energy efficient home improvements. Other topics will include renewable energy and sustainable living.

Healthy Sustainable Homes: Mary Pat Aardrup will help unlock the mysteries of your home's health and provide information about a new and free volunteer driven program to help families improve the indoor air quality in their homes.

Refreshments will be served. Kids are welcome.
