

On January 22, 2015 the City of Fort Collins and the City of Loveland agreed to establish the Northern Colorado Regional Airport Commission. The intergovernmental agreement provided that this organization would be governed by a seven-person commission:

- Two members from the City of Fort Collins Council and staff, and three citizen members.
  - One citizen member is appointed by the Fort Collins City Council, to serve an initial term of three years with each of the following terms to be four years.
  - Two members from the City of Loveland Council and staff.
  - One citizen member is appointed by the Loveland City Council, to serve an initial term of two years with each following terms to be four years.
  - One citizen member is appointed jointly by the Loveland and Fort Collins City Councils, to serve an initial term of four years with each following term to be four years.
