Briefly explain what you believe are the three most important issues facing this board or commission, and how do you believe this board or commission should address each issue?

- 1) Land use is a major issue especially in areas experiencing rapid growth. Being a city with such a rich history, there are landmarks and historically significant areas scattered throughout the area. However there is also a need to use this land for development. So to resolve this issue I think it is important to minimize the impact on the historically or culturally significant buildings or areas. Bottom line, i have a fairly strict view on preservation, i believe that, for the most part, structures should be maintained and green spaces should be untouched. Of course it is a case by case basis.

- 2) Like the issue above, an inevitable issue of encountering landmarks while undergoing construction projects will occur. I think it is important to require construction companies to have a very detailed plan of action involving the preservation of such landmarks. Included in those plans would be some form of monitoring.

- 3) Another issue that this commission probably faces is what defines preservation. Obviously it is case by case, but in general it should follow a set guideline. I think most landmarks should be maintained, but mostly untouched. However, i recognize that older building and landmarks will need to have maintance performed regularly to ensure its integrity. I believe that buildings should have its outer facade unchanged, even if other newer buildings are constructed near it, and the inside should have dedicated protected areas for the preservation of its history and culture.
