

HPG 95 Geographical Information Technology Availability

Geographical Information Technology Availability

Many of the City’s technology tools rely on geographic information for accurate locations. The metric tracks the percentage of time the City’s GIS system is available for use by customers and employees.