

Irrigation Renovation & Native Landscape Restoration Project at Southridge Golf Course

Starting mid-September, the irrigation system at Southridge Golf Course is set to undergo an extensive renovation project. The current irrigation system has exceeded its life expectancy and is experiencing loss of water, costly repairs, and high labor needs. The new system will produce significant savings through improved water application and reduced labor/repair costs. New native landscape areas will be incorporated as part of the irrigation installation, which will reduce overall maintenance and water needs within the course.
